Rotational Vacancy

ANNOUNCEMENT NO: E20060060-Rotator

OPEN: 03/06/06 CLOSE: 05/08/06

POSITION WILL BE FILLED ON A ONE OR TWO YEAR VISITING SCIENTIST APPOINTMENT, INTERGOVERNMENTAL PERSONNEL ACT (IPA) ASSIGNMENT BASIS, OR FEDERAL TEMPORARY APPOINTMENT.

The National Science Foundation is seeking qualified candidates for a Program Director position for the Emerging Models and Technologies for Computation (EMT) Cluster in the Division of Computing and Communication Foundations (CCF), Directorate for Computer and Information Science and Engineering (CISE), Arlington, VA.

CCF supports research and education activities that explore the foundations of computing and communication devices and their usage. The Division seeks advances in computing and communication theory, algorithms for computer and computational sciences, and architecture and design of computers and software. CCF supported projects also investigate revolutionary computing paradigms based on emerging scientific ideas and integrate research and education activities to prepare future generations of computer science and engineering workers. More information about CCF and their clusters can be found on their website at <http://www.cise.nsf.gov/div/index.jsp?div=CCF>.

The Emerging Models and Technologies for Computation Cluster (EMT) seeks to advance the fundamental capabilities of computer and information sciences and engineering by capitalizing on advances and insights from areas such as biological systems, quantum phenomena, nanoscale science and engineering, and other novel computing concepts. To bring fundamental changes to software, hardware and architectural design aspects of future computing models, collaborations among computer scientists, engineers, mathematicians, biologists and other disciplinary scientists are imperative. Projects move beyond evolutionary technological advances to innovations that enable fundamentally different ways of computing and communicating. The EMT cluster supports cross- and inter-disciplinary research and education projects that explore ideas, theory and experiments which go beyond conventional wisdom and venture into a range of uncharted territories in order to advance computing capabilities, and/or that produce innovative curricula or educational materials to help advance the training of new experts in emerging computing models and technologies. More information about the Emerging Models and Technologies for Computation Cluster (EMT) can be found on their website at http://www.nsf.gov/funding/pgm_summ.jsp?pims_id=13391&org=CCF&from=home/

This position will be filled on a one or two year Visiting Scientist Appointment, under the terms of the Intergovernmental Personnel Act (IPA) or as a Federal Temporary Appointment. Temporary and Visiting Scientist appointments will be made under the Excepted Authority of the NSF Act with a current salary range of $91,407 to $142,449, depending on qualifications and experience. For Visiting Scientist appointments, individuals are in a non-pay leave status from the home institution and are appointed to NSF's payroll as a Federal employee. NSF withholds FICA and provides reimbursement for fringe benefits. For Federal temporary appointments of more than one year, the usual civil service benefits (retirement, health and life insurance) are applicable. For IPA assignments, the individual remains an employee on the payroll of his or her home institution and the institution continues to administer pay and benefits. NSF reimburses the institution for NSF's negotiated share of the costs. Individuals eligible for an IPA assignment include employees of State and local government agencies, institutions of higher education, Indian tribal governments, federally funded research and development centers and qualified nonprofit organizations. For more information regarding Visiting Scientist appointments or IPA assignments, visit our website at www.nsf.gov/about/career_opps/

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES: Directs the implementation, review, funding, post-award management, and evaluation of programs in the cluster and contributes to the intellectual integration with other programs supported by the Division. Designs and implements the proposal review and evaluation process for relevant proposals. Selects well qualified individuals to provide objective reviews on proposals either as individuals or as members of a panel. Conducts final review of proposals and evaluations, and recommends acceptance or declination. Manages and monitors on-going grants, contracts, interagency and cooperative agreements to ensure fulfillment of commitments to NSF. Evaluates progress of awards through review and evaluation of reports and publications submitted by awardees and/or meetings at NSF and during site visits. Contributes to the responsibility for establishing goals and objectives, initiating new program thrusts and phasing out old projects. Recommends new or revised policies and plans in scientific, fiscal, and administrative matters to improve the activities and management of the Program.

QUALIFICATIONS REQUIRED: Applicants must possess a Ph.D. or equivalent experience in computer science, computer engineering, communication, information science and computational science or related disciplines. In addition, six or more years of successful research, research administration, and/or managerial experience pertinent to the program is required. Also desirable is knowledge of the general scientific community, skill in written communication and preparation of technical reports, an ability to communicate orally, and several years of successful independent research of the kind normally expected of the academic rank of associate professor or higher. Computer research and education areas supported by the Division include research and education activities that explore the foundations of computing and communication such as, computing and communication theory, algorithms for computer and computations sciences, and architecture and design of computers and software. All appointees are expected to function effectively both within specific programs, as well as in a team mode, contributing to and coordinating with organizations in the Directorate, across the Foundation, and with other Federal and State government agencies and private-sector organizations.

HOW TO APPLY: Applications maybe submitted electronically to rotator@nsf.gov. Individuals interested in applying for this vacancy should submit a resume or any application of your choice to the National Science Foundation, Division of Human Resource Management, 4201 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, VA 22230, Attn: E20060058-Rotator. In addition, you are encouraged to submit a narrative statement that addresses your background and/or experience related to the Program. You are asked to complete and submit the attached Applicant Survey form.
